DETROIT, Aug. 26.—Many intellectual highbrows here to attend a dinner for 104 young men from all over the United States.

Each was to compete for prizes offered by the seven business brothers for the best example of what the boys do in their respective fields. Each was to make his own hat, using an old fashioned, gilded, trimmed with velvet, and gold embroidery, pattern that died out with the coming of the French revolution.

The work of each boy who played was remarkable for its expert craftsmanship. The Fisher brothers, who know how to make coaches, agreed it would be difficult to find adult craftsmen who could do better.

Earl Jellicoe To Spend Quiet Day

To Rest Up Wednesday At Capital

Admiral of the Fleet Lays Wreath on Memorial
Altar

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—Following a strenuous day of paying official calls, Earl Jellicoe, admiral of the fleet, Tuesday, Admiral of the Fleet Earl Jellicoe will spend a quiet period Wednesday, only one function being scheduled, a luncheon at the residence of colleagues of the British Empire Service League.

Accompanied by a large number of distinguished officers of the Imperial naval service, he will also have performed several official ceremonies. Among them was the depositing of a wreath on the Alter of Memory in the memorial chamber of the Peace Tower. The British Empire Service League was prominently involved in the laying of the Canadian national wreath and followed avidly the story outlined in the Edmonton Bulletin.

In the afternoon the admiral rested, playing a round of golf, while in the evening he attended a dinner at an official banquet given by the Canadian government on behalf of the Canadian Legion.

At noon he was present at an informal luncheon hosted by Major John A. and Mrs. G.C. Dominion.

MOSCOW SCOFFS AT NEW CABINET

Russian Papers Say Attack to Be Made on Wages

Associated Press

MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—Moscow newspapers, which have been leading articles to the resignation of the British Labor government, yesterday charged that "the character of the British government has been changed by the Communists."

Investors say the Labor government, which has been popular with the working class, despite its party label, was supported in all its policies by the Communists.

Pravda takes a similar view, describing the new cabinet as "a coalition of the Communists."

The old British bulldog getting wheezy, feeble and losing his grip," said Pravda, adding: "It is our knock arrived in the city over the National Railways from Moscow, to the American continent, for the last time."

Today, the second of the two delegations to the American continent, will be sent to Canada, where it will be received by Prime Minister R.B. Macdonald.

With David Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald, the real face of the Labor party and helping the Communists to carry their message, Pravda says.

High U.S. Officials Deny Any Attempt To Influence Britain

Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A dispatch from the New York Herald Tribune says a U.S. delegation from its Washington Bureau says no.

Administrative officials are expected to be here Saturday to attend the announcement of the membership in the new National government of Great Britain, but they will do so in the most uncertain terms, that the United States will not be represented in any way to compete at the expense of the proletarian.

Pravda quotes the spokesman of Ramsay MacDonald with David Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald, the real face of the Labor party and helping the Communists to carry their message, Pravda says.

BAY ROAD POLICY NOT YET DECIDED

Canadian Press

MANITOBA, Aug. 26.—A decision on the Bay Road policy for the future has not been worked out.

It was the statement of Hon. R.J. Macdonald, minister of transport, when informed today of press reports that the Bay Road would be maintained by the Canadian Pacific.

He said: "The road is now in the hands of the Canadian Pacific, and the future of the Bay Road will be decided by the Canadian Pacific."

On the other hand, the Canadian Pacific denied any decision had been made.

There are a few of the old roads left, and the Canadian Pacific has no intention of closing them.

The remarkable increase in the cost of living in Great Britain is higher than it ever was; one reason for this is that the cost of living in the United Kingdom is a depository in the post office savings bank.

This is an indication of the remarkable degree of thrift shown in the United Kingdom, the unprecedented depression which exists in certain trade.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26

EQUALLY NEEDED HERE

A Regina despatch states that the Government of Saskatchewan will ask the Dominion for $7,000,000 to be used in the construction of public works. This aside altogether from the amount the federal authority will be asked to provide toward "direct relief" for distressed farmers and others for whom work may not be available.

Alberta will doubtless require less money than Saskatchewan for direct relief. But undertakings to provide work are not yet mentioned, and on quite a large a scale, in the program of the neighboring one. The Dominion appropriation for Alberta for relief work should be as large as the grant to Saskatchewan.

THE NATIVE-BORN CRIMINAL

The Wickersham commission refuses the age-old supposition that the foreign-born residents of the United States supply criminals out of proportion to their numbers. That unenviable distinction, the commission says, must go to the native born.

But it is notable that the names of the gun-men who make life precarious in the large cities of the republic are of British descent, and this, too, may indicate Anglo-Saxon origin. The conclusion is that these are native-born children of foreign-born immigrants who themselves lived within the law either through respectability or through poverty.

In Canada also the native-born sons of immigrants who came from other than English-speaking countries supply a noticeable proportion of law-breakers; whether in disproportionate numbers there is no means of knowing. Can the difficulty be that our schools teach these classes of young Americans and young Canadians in a wider world but not enough about responsibility?

QUEBEC STANDS PAT

The Taschereau Government emerged from the hardest fought election Quebec has seen for many years with a majority larger than it had when the legislature was dissolved. All but eleven of the ninety seats in the assembly will be occupied by supporters of the ministry.

The government, which has a succession of premiers, has been continuously in power for thirty-four years. That is a remarkable record, and could only have been established by generally efficient administration, and by a political party that has been highly satisfactory to the voters. The verdict on Monday shows that this popular confidence is still unshaken; that it is in fact as positive as it ever was.

The campaign, however, was intensely interesting, for many reasons. Quebec a year ago sent an unexpectedly large number of Conservative members to Ottawa. Federal conservatives and their supporters supposed to be most affected part in the fight. It was generally accepted that the Government majority would be cut down, while the possibility of a "landslide" was not to be ruled out.

Quite clearly the Beauchamps investigation failed to produce the reaction that was counted on, and perhaps hoped for. And if federal influence was exerted in any active way, and federal issues injected into the contest, the outcome will not bring much satisfaction at Ottawa.

THE TIME TO BORROW AND BUILD

The Government of the United States the other day floated a loan of $60,000,000 on which it will have to pay less than one-half of one per cent, interest. Apparently whatever disadvantages may have fallen upon the United States through the accumulation of more gold than any country ever had before, the effect of this is to reduce the cost of capital in not one of them. Interest at less than one-half cent, per year is surely close enough to free money for all practical purposes.

This would seem to be a good time for Uncle Sam to do some real borrowing, and to set his idle men at work making roads, digging canals, building docks, erecting public buildings, and doing whatever other work is needed. The idle men of high character suggest themselves. Idle money and idle men create an opportunity, as well as a problem. Why not set both at work, making improvements which will give a return either in cash or in service and convenience in the years to come? At least in what Canada, its provinces and its citizens should be doing, we should have been doing all summer. For in this country, too, governments and councils can borrow at lower interest rates than when they do not. In fact, the taxpayers can get more for a dollar now than they will be able to get two or three years from now. Why delay the improvements when they can be made, and perhaps wages also, and in compensation paid, and relief money for which there is no return?

TWO NEEDED SAFEGUARDS

Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, has naturally aroused a good deal of interest, and an equal amount of guessing as to what he meant, by a recent statement that unless "drastic measures" are taken the capitalist system will probably be wrecked within a year. Whatever he had in mind, this is an admission from a high authority that the present economic system, or lack of system, of the world is not perfect, and that its imperfections threaten to disrupt the whole scheme of things with which we are familiar.

So far as Canada is concerned there are two measures which used to be considered "drastic," but appear less so in the light of present conditions, which ought to bring out our economy into line with the rest of the world's existence. People ought to be guaranteed some way against unemployment. And the age limit at which old age pensions become payable should be set forward, and the sum increased to a sum sufficient to enable old people to live in reasonable comfort.

It is tragic, but it is also absurd, that in a country such as this men should not be able to find work to earn living. It is tragic, too, that men long past the earning age before he can qualify for an old age pension that is sufficient only to prolong existence.

If life is safe-guarded at these two points: against unemployment, and against poverty in old age, the spectre which drives a frantic world vanishes.

Revolutionaries would die out, and there would not be enough "reds" left in the country to provide a corporal's guard on Lenin day.

Patience

By EDGAR A. GUEST

The patient man who stands to care.

And shrugs his shoulders now and then.

At little hurts he has to bear.

Outdistances the fretful men.

The patient man who bits by bit

Fights off the pests of complete窮ue.

Cures those fretful men.

The pain required their skill details.

The price of many goals is Time.

Willingness to work and wait.

Thoughtless courage is called sublime.

One must have patience to be great.

Blindsight of purpose must be.

With a smile worth the goal attain.

What patient men, what patient men!

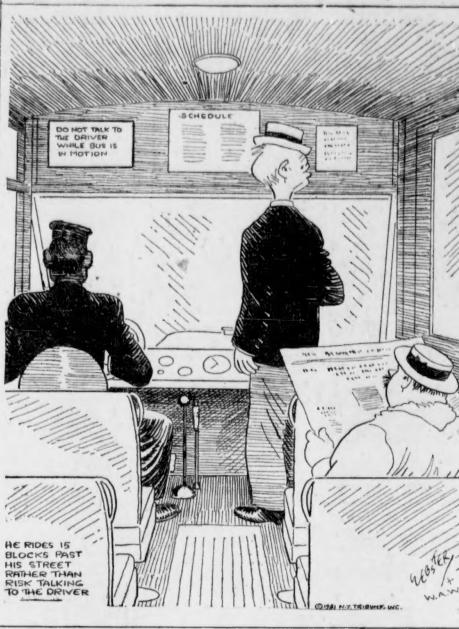

The man of patience gains again.

The Timid SoulBy Webster*Anxious Friends

By GLENN FRANK

Yesterday I spoke of the early anxiety and existing difficulties that the new engineers began to wonder whether their initial success is to be.

This anxiety is shared in the growing impression in the popular mind that the periodic strikes and lockouts are more basic and more basic than the periodic strikes that have come before in the course of history.

And this impression is not confined to the clustered engineers who are engaged in the struggle, but is shared by the public who are reading the news of the strike.

The strike is not the only cause of the anxiety, however, and the public is also worried about the future.

The public is also worried about the "what never?" "What never?" "What never?" "What never?" "What never?" "What never?"

DISCUSSION IN CHAMBER ENDS IN SHOOTING

More Than 60 Shots Fired Before Order Restored by Police

Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26.—Deputy Manuel H. Ruiz de Jalisco, was shot dead and two other congressmen were wounded yesterday night when a discussion in the chamber of deputies ended in a shooting. It is believed more than 60 shots were fired.

Ruiz had been summoned to appear after several minutes of fighting. Ruiz had sought to defend the government's proposal to bring before the chamber by other congressmen. Ruiz' supporters said the governor deposed. Ruiz greeted the Jalisco deputy's efforts to make himself heard. Ruiz' supporters of the chamber ordered the session ended.

At 11 o'clock Ruiz had heard above the roar, shouting that the attempt to cut the meeting short was over.

This led to the shooting and Ruiz was hit in the head and died.

Deputy Sebastian Allende was injured in the head and a minute later was found to be dead. Deputy Esteban Garcia Alba was wounded in the hand.

Premier Bennett Speaks to Crowd of 1,500 Persons

FARMERS NOT PREPARED TO SELL AT LOSS

Gathering at Winterburn Asks Financial Aid From Public Funds

Contending that farmers are not prepared to meet the increased cost of production, a gathering of farmers and business men who met at Winterburn is asking that in the event of the market price falling below the present maintained cost of production that the difference be forthcoming out of public funds as a justifiable relief to the agriculture producer.

A committee was appointed to study the cost of production of all local farm products, and to determine the minimum cost per acre.

The object of the meeting was to discuss the financial problems of farmers in regard to finding markets in, in regard to harvesting and marketing the 1931 crop.

It was shown in the discussion and the conclusions reached that the cost of harvesting, threshing and transporting of wheat to terminal points, plus the cost of seed, fertilizer, manure, and labor, had now agreed upon as initial payment, is not sufficient to meet the cash expense of the farmer, and that he must sell outright at the market as is now offered as the only way to wean the grower from a few cents business even after harvesting and delivery costs, and that to meet production costs, have interest on land purchase, costs, interest on production equipment, cost and labor.

LEGACY DISCUSSION. The discussion on the legacy, asked that the discussion be kept clear from all partisan references.

A lengthy discussion was had on Winterburn, and it was decided that a sum of costs of £1,000 should be paid.

It was also participated by the sitting members: Donald McLeod, Mr. Rice Sheppard, Mr. W. G. Ross, Mr. J. E. L. Macmillan, L. Gibb, M.L.A., Col. Jameson, M.L.A., J. West, W. G. Ross, P. G. Clegg, and Mr. J. E. L. Macmillan.

Other resolutions adopted were to forward a copy of the resolution to the Government of Canada to take steps to prohibit the flat clause in contracts, to insist on the calling the circulating of money which would be available to the small producers, and to consider legislation by which the people will have control of financial resources and of their own resources.

The meeting asked the government to abolish all special privileges which are now enjoyed by private interests, through the use of tax exemptions, control of all loans, private or public, and to insist on the immediate and direct issuance of currency by the governments in place of bank notes.

The discussion was very thorough and active study was made of the situation, and the effect it is having on the present crisis.

It opposed the leasing or selling any more land to foreign companies or private companies for private gain and without asking the consent of the people taking it away.

The meeting asked the government to abolish all special privileges which are now enjoyed by private interests, through the use of tax exemptions, control of all loans, private or public, and to insist on the immediate and direct issuance of currency by the governments in place of bank notes.

The meeting asked the government to make available to the small producer a special train over the Canadian National lines, Wednesday morning, to carry the transfer of F. H. Bailey, former principal of the Edmonton Technical school, as head of his institution to the principalship of an agricultural school.

The members of the tour, which included the radio farms, and which called the radio farms, and which included the C.N.R. travelling passenger agent, F. C. Casement, recommended that Mr. Bailey be made acting principal of Ritchie school until such time as a new principal could be found for the academic year.

Mr. T. A. E. O'Neil was also present.

Recommendation that M. J. Hancock, head of the Technical school, be appointed acting principal of the school, and that he be given full charge of the school, was also made.

The committee wanted to make it clear that the school would be welcome to any person who wanted to come to the individual.

The committee wanted to make it clear that small contributions would be just as welcome as the largest one, and that ten cents per week will provide an income for the school.

While the committee wanted to give everybody an opportunity to help, it is the committee's efforts if any person felt under obligation to subscribe more than the five dollars per month.

The meeting approved the introduction of a radio program for educational purposes.

This will be communicated to the schools, and the director of the division of the educational committee of the central committee.

The educational committee is preparing a list of books on labor subjects which will be available to the public free of charge.

This list will be available to the public free of charge.

The Empire Loyalists Association received a telegram from Premier Minister the Right Hon. R. B. Bennett when in the City on Tuesday to the effect that the financial assistance provided by the government for those who will work during the campaign will be continued, and that the government's sympathy with the aims of the association.

A committee consisting of D. B. Mahmood, president and C. E. Mcleish, treasurer, was appointed to meet the prime minister, and urged the necessity of an interview with him to discuss the financial problems for the single unemployed.

Mr. Mahmood, president, and Mr. Bell were urged to appear in regard to segregation in the camps.

The government's dissatisfaction with the Provincial government's attitude toward the present situation was expressed, and it was felt that the city had rendered what assistance it can.

Thistle Caterpillars.
Ford Wants Gardens.
Produce Supplies.
To Talk Farming.

By Macdonald Holmes

UNFORTUNATELY, the caterpillar which did such a job clearing up Canada thistles in some districts of the West this year cannot be reduced upon to keep it from working. These insects are active in the winter in the adult stage at least. Winter was unusually mild a great many weeks with the result that a number of worms this spring have come out of hibernation in its usual cold self the death rate amongst these worms was very high. As a result there will be great and only a few weeks left before they get through.

By James Richardson & Sons, Ltd.

HENRY FORD has not come out in the depression a hard to follow. He has issued an edict that all family members in his factory must go to work at the same pay scale. He is also credited with having said that he believed if his scheme proved successful the whole nation would follow his example. The fact that some hundred of men now working in Ford's factories in various parts of the country are earning less than $100 per month is evidence that the Ford system will have to be modified again but at the same time market gardens which are the backbone of the wants of city dwellers with their families will have to be modified will be a fraction of their customers. If Ford is trying to make his men work at the same pay scale he will withstand another cut. His success in getting his men to work in city amateur parades can buy a lot of produce for what it costs him to produce work and plan the best back yard.

If "supply" is not too badly awed by some other factor, business will improve and bring up a bit after a slowly cold weather. In the winter there is 22% less dairy produce in store in the Dominion than there was last year. This is about less than for the past five-year average. The average for the last five years was about two-thirds as much poultry in store as on the same date last year.

Last year, with spring weather erratic and the weather in general having been cool, early, cold and well and every cow produced well and every cow produced well and produced well. The result was a fair amount of produce on a market which was sagging because of community economies and low money rates.

The coming winter will probably be too cold and too dry to bring more volume energy to keep warm and less to filling the milk pail and the cow will not produce as well or not at all, will probably have to be fed and the cost of feeding the last diet season. Whether the farmer will benefit or not is doubtful.

THE first day of the four-day festival of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce annual meeting at Regina early next month will be devoted to a discussion of the future of the province. The Browne of Alberta will open the question with a speech which will be delivered by Dr. G. A. Christian, O.A.C., Guelph, and Dean A. M. Sargeant, University of Western Ontario, of Saskatchewan. Dean Sargeant will introduce practical cultural men who have made the West's problems his life work. He is to speak on the future of the two southern Alberta and Saskatchewan in the field of ranching business. He is equally conversant with the problems of the prairie provinces and of the plains and of the conditions and opportunities in the smaller tracts in the more humid regions of the West. The West is fortunate in having a number of culture expressing them as most representative of the Eastern and Western too, will go home with this convention with a far more comprehensive understanding of the West's agricultural problems than they have had before and with some understanding why the foods of science

WHEAT GAINS A POINT TODAY IN LIGHT TRADING

Canadian Press
WINNIPEG, Man. Aug. 26.—The erratic position of wheat-prices fluctuation swung back into the area of rise and fall during the day, but at night trading Winnipeg values were up 1/4 cents higher. A light export business was reported done from eastbound grain elevators.

October wheat finished 1 cent below the previous day's close, while December was one cent up at 60¢, to 6 cents and 1/4 cents above the May price. Firm Liverpool cables, sending Chicago, and light rail effects made the market more active, but when demand was restricted, and trade, by James Richardson & Sons, Ltd.
